COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Highway Department is now making the necessary preparations for the winter months. Stockpiling 1200 yards of sand was started on Monday. Next week snow fence will be erected. Plow frames have been mounted on the trucks. The 4-wheel drive International is in Skowhegan having a new plow frame mounted.

As it is only two months before the close of the books, a review of several of the accounts is being published and making a comparison with a year ago to show whether expenditures for the first ten months of this year have increased or decreased as compared to the first ten months of 1959. This week the Welfare Department will be reviewed, which consists of four accounts. Expenditures for town welfare cases are $781.41 less this year. Cases for which the town is reimbursed by the town of settlement shows a decrease in expenditures by $419.14. State cases have shown a decrease of $1,216.22. The town's share of Aid to Dependent Children decreased by $124.40. The town pays 18% of the cost of these cases. It is encouraging to note that in each account the expenditures have shown a decrease.

Currently there are five Bethel cases receiving assistance. Four are Public Assistance cases with the town supplementing medical needs for 2, fuel 1, and board 1. One family is receiving groceries due to the unavoidable absence of the head of the family.

Sincerely,

Harold L. Bean

PHILIP ANDREWS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF EXTENSION ASSOCIATION

Philip G. Andrews, Fryeburg dairyman, was elected president of the Oxford County Extension Association last Thursday night at Bethel. He succeeds Harold G. Bennett of Bethel.

Winthrop C. Libby, Dean of Agriculture at the University of Maine, spoke at the annual meeting on the subject, "Our Human Resource." He spoke of the low percentage of Maine students that graduate from a college or other institution of higher learning and expressed some of his views, concerning the causes and possible remedies. "Success in college seems to be due essentially to one thing," he said, "preparation or readiness for the job at hand. This preparation involves emotional as well as intellectual readiness. The frame of mind or attitude towards college is perhaps as important as intellectual preparation. And this attitude is largely formed in the home."

Other new officers elected were Donald J. Mason of West Paris, Vice President and Gordon F. Cairns of South Paris, Treasurer.

Elected to the Executive Committee were Mrs. Marguerite Colby of Welchville, Mrs. Katie Tamminen of Greenwood, Mrs. Marjorie Hill of South Paris, Arthur Ladd of Rumford Corner, and John A. Hunter of North Fryeburg.

Winners of the Home Grounds Improvement contest were also announced Thursday. First place was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bennoch, Bethel; second to Mrs. Leslie McLeod, Dixfield; and third, Mrs. Jorgen Olson, Bethel. They were presented cash awards from the Sears, Roebuck Foundation.

BETHEL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MET TUESDAY

Thirty members and guests of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce met at Bethaven Inn on Tuesday evening for the regular business meeting, and to hear a talk by School Supt. Eric A. Sahlgren on Problems in Long Range School Planning.

The work of the committee on Mercantile and Commercial Memberships was reviewed, and it was voted to purchase membership placards to be used by the M&C members after the start of the new O. C. year in Jan. 1961. The M&C membership fee is $5.00. The individual membership fee remains at $2.00.

Mr. Sahlgren outlined in some detail the procedure and pitfalls of long range planning in general. He discussed four main points for School Planning: (1) Study of the community, background and present trends; (2) Changes in Educational Methods and the desirability of Research even at a local level; (3) Consideration of available and needed buildings, area for pupils and facilities; and (4) Financing of building improvements, enlargement or new construction. Entering into this item is the present roughly 5% inflationary factor, and population changes. Questions and answers followed Mr. Sahlgren's talk, evidencing much interest in our school problems.

MRS. EMILY S. CHAPMAN

Mrs. Emily S. Chapman, of South Brewer, widow of Alonzo F. Chapman, died late Saturday at a Bangor hospital after a brief illness.

She was born in North Edgecomb Aug. 9, 1886, the daughter of Alfred and Clara Huff Sidelinger. She attended Boothbay schools and was graduated from the Maine General Hospital School of Nursing, Portland. She practiced nursing in the Portland area several years prior to her marriage.

She lived in Bethel most of her married life and in recent years has lived with her daughter Mrs. Henry Viricel at South Brewer. Mr. Chapman died in 1934. She attended the Bethel Congregational Church.

Surviving besides Mrs. Viricel, are two sons, Paul S., of Maywood, Ill., and Alonzo F., of Tampa, Fla.; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Butler of Southport and Mrs. Ray J. Tyler of West Minot; six grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

A funeral service of beauty and dignity at Greenleaf's funeral home, conducted by Rev. Clifford Laws of the West Parish Congregational Church, was attended by old friends, neighbors and the immediate family of Emily S. Chapman.

After many years of absence from this community the ties of friendship and love existing between her and all who knew her were strong and fervent.

A woman of physical loveliness, a kind heart and a noble character, she will not be forgotten.

She was buried beside her husband, beneath the majestic pines in peaceful Riverside Cemetery. Her faith will comfort her bereaved family.

My life is but a weaving
Between my Lord and me,
I cannot choose the colors,
He worketh steadily.
At times He weaveth sorrow,
I know, in spite of pride
He sees the perfect upper
And I the under side.

V. A. NEWS LETTER

Veterans who have previously applied for pension only to be ruled ineligible because their income was too great may now be eligible under the new pension law effective July 1, 1960. Dr. J. S. Weltman, manager of the Togus Veterans Administration Center, says.

He pointed out that the new law raises the income limitations from $1400 to $1800 annually for a single man and from $2700 to $3000 annually if the veteran is married or has a minor child.

A sliding or graduated scale for various income levels below these limits is provided by the new pension law enabling a veteran to collect smaller pension payments if he is ineligible for maximum payment.

Full information as well as assistance in filing new claims or reopening old claims may be obtained at any VA office. Veterans Administration offices in Maine are located at Togus, 171 Middle Street, Portland, and 96 Harlow Street, Bangor.

Dr. Weltman suggested that prompt action would avoid the rush of information seekers who are expected to visit VA offices in May or June, just prior to the effective date of the new law.

GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE SEEKS TO LOWER FEDERAL GASOLINE TAX

If the nation's governors have their way, Maine motorists will be spared $3.4 million a year in gasoline taxes.

L. G. Lamplough, chairman of the Maine Petroleum Association, noted that the annual Governors' Conference has called on Congress to restore the federal gasoline tax to its regular three-cent-a-gallon level after July 1, 1961, and to avoid further increases in this levy. Under a temporary boost which went into effect last fall and is slated to expire June 30, 1961, the federal gasoline tax is currently four cents a gallon.

This additional cent is costing Maine vehicle operators $3.4 million a year and nationwide adds some $583 million annually to the tax load borne by highway users, Lamplough noted.

In a formal resolution, the governors recommended that funds necessary to insure financing of the federal interstate highway construction program should be bolstered by using a larger proportion of federal automobile excise taxes. Currently, $1.7 billion a year in these taxes are being channeled into non-road purposes.

Lamplough said that Maine motorists are paying a total of eleven cents a gallon in gasoline taxes since, besides the four-cent federal tax, they have to pay a state tax of seven cents a gallon.

"Every motorist should make it his business to see, as the governors are doing, that Congress lets the fourth cent of the federal tax expire as scheduled June 30, 1961," Lamplough said.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Smoke From Farm Chimneys by Hadyn S. Pearson

Half a century ago smoke spiraled from each farmhouse chimney, and a good countryman watching the plumes rise and drift away, calculated the weather from the smoke's behavior.

Forehanded farmers were proud of their woodsheds come November, and felt a glow of satisfaction as they came in from evening chores and let soft lantern light play on the high-stacked tiers. Solid, dry wood gave a gray-purple smoke and the column above the chimney was a badge that stamped a man.

In olden days, as now, there were the improvident who live like the lillies of the field, and a billow of dark heavy smoke meant that a woman was struggling to bake with green wood. An old country proverb says there are always those who try to live on love and green wood. When men left the security of the eastern seaboard and trekked into the wilderness to make new homes, a column of smoke above the forest meant another link was forged in the chain that has become America.

There are men and women living in teeming cities who remember the smell of wood-smoke in the air on a gray, brooding autumn day. Boys and girls tramping a mile or two to District School took for granted the smoke that curled upward, hesitated, and then drifted away—a hyphen on a page of time.

Each year the smoke columns become fewer as gas, oil and electricity decrease man's labors. However, when one rides the country roads he still sees an occasional banner above a red chimney. One cannot check the tide of progress—and would not if he could. But we wish that all realized the deep meaning and tradition of smoke rising from a farmhouse chimney.

And ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, when thou liest down and when thou risest up.

(Deuteronomy 11:18,19)

I was vacationing in the home of a friend, Roland, a two-year-old nephew, was visiting there, too. The first few times we gathered at the dinner table, he sat wide-eyed as we bowed our heads in prayer.

He toyed with his spoon or snatched a bite of food while we gave thanks for our food.

Toward the close of the week as the family started to gather around the dining table, Roland quietly sat on his chair and folded his hands. He whispered, "Amen." This was his child language for salamat, a word in the Philippines meaning to give thanks. He had caught the meaning of worship.

Blessed are the homes that echo with prayer and thanksgiving. The children in them are greatly influenced in their spiritual lives. Worship in the home becomes a treasured heritage.

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL OXFORD COUNTY VOTERS

Fryeburg, Maine
October 31, 1960

Dear Friends:

My name is David H. Hastings, of Fryeburg, and I write this letter as the Republican nominee for the office of Oxford County Attorney. My responsibility to you as a candidate for public office would not be fairly discharged if you were not told of all circumstances involved in the contest for the office of Oxford County Attorney.

The law provides that only an attorney at law admitted to the general practice of law in this state and resident in the county shall be elected as county attorney. A person can not be resident in more than one place, and that place ordinarily must be in the community where he makes his home.

My opponent, the Democratic candidate for Oxford County Attorney, is Mr. Joseph N. Margolin. When he was nominated for this office by the Democratic party in the primaries last June, he was not a resident of Oxford County. He was then a resident of the City of Auburn in Androscoggon County. A poll tax for this year was assessed against him in Auburn. He and his family still occupy a home which they own in Auburn. His children are now attending the public schools of Auburn. Since late this summer he has caused his name to appear on the register of the Hotel Stone in Norway as tenant of a room which he has rarely, if ever, occupied over night. He maintains no other dwelling place within Oxford County. Or the strength of this sketchy tenancy, he has requested his registration as a voter in Norway. I do not presume to determine whether or not Mr. Margolin is now a resident of Norway, and hence eligible to be elected to the office of Oxford County Attorney, but at least you should know the facts of the situation. The office of county attorney does not often get much publicity, but it is an important job which can on occasion deeply concern all good citizens. Speaking only for myself, I am shocked and disturbed at the irresponsibility of the Democratic Party in nominating a non-resident of the county for a vital public office within the county.

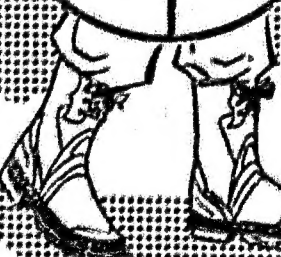

As for myself, I have lived in Oxford County all my life, save for three years in the Army Air Force during World War II. For the past 11 years I have practiced law in Fryeburg as a partner in a family law office which has served Oxford County for over 100 years. In 1957 and 1958 I had the honor to serve as your county attorney, and would welcome your insight on into my service in that office. Most people never have occasion to come into direct contact with the county attorney, but I am sure that you can obtain an opinion of my service as county attorney if you will speak to any law enforcement officer, to any attorney, or to any person who served on a jury during those years.

My most important non-business interest is my wife and two children, but in addition I have the following affiliations: Fryeburg Lovell Kiwanis Club; Fryeburg Chamber of Commerce (Director and past president); Masons (Trustee and past master); Congregational Church of Fryeburg; West Oxford Agricultural Society (Finance committeeman); American Legion; Eastern Slope Airport Authority (President). These last two years I have served as your member on the Executive Council of Maine, and have worked to the best of my ability for the state as a whole, and our area in particular; among other projects which I have supported are road improvements in Oxford County, and the regional airport now being built at Fryeburg.

In conclusion, I hope that all of you will vote at the coming election, and that you will consider carefully the qualifications of every candidate, no matter how important you may consider the office concerned. After all, we come in contact with county officials much more frequently than higher officers on the state and national levels. If you should be bold enough to support me for the office of Oxford County Attorney, and I should have the good fortune to be elected, I will do my best to deserve that support.

Yours respectfully,
David H. Hastings

MAINE RESIDENTS MAY OBTAIN PROOF OF AGE FROM CENSUS BUREAU

Last year, 206 residents of Maine turned to the U. S. Bureau of the Census for help in proving they were born. These persons were among an estimated 30 million United States residents who are without proof of age or birth. The historical records of the Census Bureau provide the only source of this information for most of these 30 million people.

Proof of age or birth is needed today to collect social security and other retirement benefits. It is needed to obtain passports. It is needed to qualify for jobs carrying certain age or citizenship requirements. It is needed for some forms of insurance.

Since 1920, the Census Bureau has provided more than three and one-half million persons with copies of their Census records of age, place of birth, citizenship, or kinship. Persons seeking such records of facts about themselves should write to the Personal Census Service Branch, Bureau of the Census, Pittsburgh, Kansas, for a Census Records Search Application Form. A fee of $3.00 is charged for search of not more than two censuses for one person and for one copy of the information found. Additional copies cost $1.00 each. An expedited search costs $4.00. Expedited searches are usually completed within a few days while the routine $3.00 search may take up to 30 days, depending upon the backlog of requests and the ease or difficulty in locating the information.

The personal information in the records of the 1900 and later Censuses is confidential by law and may be furnished only upon the written request of the person to whom it relates or, for a proper purpose, a legal representative such as guardian or administrator of an estate. Information regarding a child who has not reached legal age may be obtained upon

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor: It has become a sad fact that the simple procedure of driving to town for groceries, or even to attend church services, has become a hazardous venture.

Three times within the past month I have escaped becoming involved in an accident by a very narrow margin. I hate to think of what statistics would show my future driving without incident might be!

Now, it may be quite possible that my driving ability has deteriorated causing these recent episodes; but I would prefer to think it was due to unsatisfactory traffic patterns in the area where each of these incidents occurred, i. e. Railroad Street.

If a lifelong resident of our town finds confusion at both ends of this street, think of the dilemma of the traveling stranger.

For one thing, the visibility at both ends is practically nil. If a boxcar happens to be on the siding by the road (which is more frequently the rule than the exception) there is no way way of knowing--short of coming to a full stop--whether another car is coming into the intersection enroute from Gorham to Portland. When this state of confusion is compounded by the necessity for the long-distance driver to watch for route signs, there is a problem.

As difficult a situation exists at the further end of the street. Here the right-of-way is that of the driver on the Gorham, N. H. to Portland road. If this right-of-way driver needs to make a left hand turn (from Railroad Street onto Church Street, or from Gorham toward Newry) he cannot see an oncoming car until he is directly in the intersection. Out of curiosity I checked route signs which tourists must follow. They are clearly marked but at the point of the intersections where the driver should be focusing his full attention on traffic.

Would it not be practical to 1. Erect larger fluorescent route signs at least one quarter of a mile before these intersections--similar to signs designed for super highways.

2. Post clearly marked fluorescent route signs one quarter mile after passing these intersections.

3. Have a rotary traffic pattern around the old watering trough at the intersection by the depot.

4. Drop the "bulge" on the approach to the overhead bridge, or devise a one-way street pattern there (in effect a round about rotary pattern.)

This list of proposed changes may not be the perfect "cure," but is presented with the hope it will start purposeful controversy, with some definite action taken in the near future.

Yours for Casper Milqetoast,
 Phyllis Dock

Gould 7—Lisbon 13

Gould Academy nearly pulled the upset of the year in Maine schoolboy football as they led the powerful Lisbon High team 7-6, until Lisbon scored with 40 seconds to go. The undefeated Class C leaders rallied to push across the winning T. D. They started near midfield with about six minutes to go.

Except for the final few minutes' show of power by the Greyhounds, the Academy eleven was in control of the game most of the playing time. Scott Cummings' passing and the defensive play of Bill Gail, John Kelley and Dick Moody kept Gould on top until the final minute of play.

Gould scored early in the first period as Cummings connected with 3 out of 4 passes to bring the ball to the LHS 1 yard line. From there he plunged over for the TD and Steve Parent kicked the extra point to lead 7-0.

A pair of 15 yard penalties on Gould gave Lisbon the break they needed to score in the middle of the third period. The rush for the point after failed, and Gould held its 7-6 margin until the desperate Greyhounds finally broke loose to win in the final minute of the game.

The Huskies have shown defensive strength all year, but this was their finest effort of the season as they nearly upset powerful Lisbon High. Gould Entertains Fryeburg In Finale

Gould Academy will play host to Fryeburg Academy in the final game of the season for both teams. Gould has an overwhelming record of wins over the visitors in the past 20 years, but Fryeburg has always been a tough opponent to beat and this year they come with their best team in many seasons. Their record of wins and losses is much better than Gould's 2 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie. Gould, however, has shown well against such strong teams as South Paris (14-12), Lisbon (13-7), and Norway (6-6). This could be a thriller well worth seeing. From here it looks like a "toss-up."

Girls' A. A. Halloween Party
On Friday, Oct. 28, the William Bingham Gymnasium was the scene for a rousing Halloween party sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association. Sally Burns, president, acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The theme being the Legend of Sleepy Hollow, the decorations were murals of a tiny village in the Catskills, silhouettes of a terrified Ichabod fleeing from the headless horseman, and the skeletons, witches, and pumpkins necessary to obtain the magic of an All Hallow's Eve celebration.

During the first portion of the evening booths at which one could try his luck at penny-pinching, apple-bobbing, and dart-throwing or have his future predicted by one Madame Destiny were open.

Following this merry-making, the classes assembled in their groups for competition in the form of skits, games and relays, and cheering. The Seniors proved possessors of strongest vocal chords by cheering with greatest volume and enthusiasm. Next came the skits: The Freshmen presented a Beatnik version of the Ichabod Crane story; The Sophomores showed a great deal of excellent planning and organization in their version of the story as it occurred in a dream; the Juniors followed with a stone age Ichabod riding a dinosaur; the Seniors put on the evening's final performance with a view of the rapidly approaching eve of the political elections in "Sleepless Hollow."

During the intervals between the skits a number of relays involving members of each class were run off.

The Sophomores took first place for their skit, the Juniors, Seniors, and Freshmen occupying second, third, and fourth places respectively. The Seniors emerged the victors. The remainder of the evening was devoted to general dancing.

PEOPLE ARE MAINE'S NO. 1 RESOURCE, SAYS DEAN LIBBY

"The one truly significant resource we have in Maine is our people." So declared Dean of Agriculture Winthrop C. Libby of the University of Maine last Thursday night at the annual meeting of the Oxford County Extension Association at Gould Academy.

"People are the top resource of Maine and the Nation and offer the only hope for the continuation of our social system as we know it," added the Dean. "Perhaps we need an alphabetical organization such as CHRA, Conserve Human Resources Association, in order to dramatize this particular cause."

"It's estimated that in September 1953 some 11,955 Maine youngsters entered the ninth grade. By June of 1957, 8,791 boys and girls had been graduated from secondary school. More than one-quarter of those who entered in 1953 were casualties of the system. No matter what the reason, the loss was high—unreasonably so."

"And of those nearly 8,800 students graduating (from high school) about 1,406 went on to higher education of one sort or another. Of these, we can estimate that perhaps 800 will complete or have completed what they started. By June 1961, one young man or woman will have graduated from college or other institution of higher learning for every 15 who started in high school in September 1953."

"Maine with its relatively limited resources cannot afford to waste such resources as we do have. I'd like to suggest that an education system which starts with 12,000 people and ends with only 800 is wasteful."

Said Dean Libby, "Make no mistake in assuming I am recommending college for all young people. I am most certainly not doing this. I believe, however, that both the individual and society will benefit from giving every person an opportunity and strong encouragement to educate himself to the limit of his abilities and interests. In some cases this may mean becoming a highly skilled carpenter and in others making a contribution as an atomic physicist."

"Success in college seems to be due essentially to one thing—preparation or readiness for the job at hand. This preparation involves emotional as well as intellectual readiness. The frame of mind or attitude towards college is perhaps as important as intellectual preparation. And this attitude is largely formed in the home."

The University of Maine official added, "Let me close by repeating that our young people are a precious heritage. On them we depend for tomorrow. We must be sure that today treats them fairly and in line with their ability and promise or tomorrow may never be."

METHODIST YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

After the MYF business meeting was called to order, new business got underway with a scheduling of the coming dances which the MYF is going to sponsor. This coming Friday, Nov. 4, a dance will be put on for the seventh and eighth grades. There will be dancing and refreshments will be sold at half time.

Under old business we worked on the dinner we are going to put on Nov. 20, after church. The main course will be chicken pie with potato and vegetables. We are going to be out selling tickets soon; so if you really want this dinner, we would like you to buy tickets as soon as possible so that we can plan on the number we are going to feed. If this dinner is a success, we are going to put its proceeds to a charitable cause.

The discussion this coming week will be led by Steve Dock and Trafton Foster. — Respectfully submitted, Steve Dock.

FARM PLANKS NOT MAIN ISSUE OF CAMPAIGN, SAYS FARM MAG. EDITOR

Hugh L. Cosline, editor of the American Agriculturist, warns New York State farmers NOT to look too closely at the farm planks of either the Republican or Democratic party because "chances are that neither party can legislate farm prosperity."

Writing in the August 20 issue of the non-partisan leading farm paper of the Northeast, Cosline noted the vital election issue as "whether or not government shall use more tax money to dabble still deeper into the business and private lives of all citizens in an attempt to guarantee jobs to all at ever increasing wages, better housing through government subsidies, payment of hospital bills for the aged, Federal aid (and eventually control) to schools, and every good thing any group of voters may desire."

Cosline notes that the Constitution was originally set up with a system of checks and balances to keep government from becoming too powerful. The fear of big government and government intervention in private lives of citizens was deeply instilled in the dedicated men who freed America and who wrote the constitution, he said.

"Gradually but surely we have drifted away from that principle and have asked government to solve more and more of our problems," Cosline continues.

Cosline said he has found from party platforms and from remarks from party leaders, a definite and vital difference between the Republicans and Democrats on the issue of increasing government control and power.

The Democrats, Cosline says, desire more government controls and regulations while Republican party leaders have definitely stated "that prosperity can be reached more certainly through free enterprise than through government spending, and that balanced Federal budgets and inflation control are essential."

The amount of governmental control over the lives of the individuals will be the vital issue in November, Cosline states, and expresses fear that "it may be buried in a sea of words" about such issues as the farm problem, which in all probability neither party can solve.

With this issue of government control uppermost in mind, Cosline says, it is up to "each voter to decide which way he or she wants to go and the vote for the candidate of the party that's most likely to

SHORT TAKES

Riverdale, N. Y., Press — The teaching profession needs a new "image" in order to win the respect of the average parent, to attract capable people to its ranks, and to win salary gains. It is not enough to clamor constantly on the single theme that teachers are underpaid and overworked. Virtually everyone feels that he too is underpaid and overworked — without the compensating free time that the teacher enjoys. Therefore the teachers' pleas fall on deaf ears. We hope teachers will realize this and change their attitudes and tactics. We'd like to see them get the increases they deserve.

Wytheville, Va., Southwest Virginia Enterprise — One of the unbelievable things about our great country is that we continue to allow the slaughter of a hundred citizens a day on our highways and city streets. No one answer can be offered to this great American oddity. The only solution lies in a thoroughly aroused public opinion which, in its wrath, will finally demand that adequate steps be taken to curb the slaughter. When this day comes, patience with drunken driving, with unsafe vehicles, with repeated offenses, and with flagrant violations of speed and safety laws will end.

Hagerstown, Md., Morning Herald: "Somewhere around 16 per cent of all personal income in the nation is paid out now for nonwork. That includes social security payments, life insurance, private pensions, dividends, interest and rent, and various payments under federal, state and local programs.

Port Huron, Mich., Times-Herald: "We realize that a big country cannot be run by a small government—you can't operate an automobile factory with a sewing machine motor.... But bigness is not, and never was, an excuse for inefficient, wasteful spending—YOU have a right to demand that every dollar of the money of the taxpayers be well spent and accounted for accurately and to demand that dollars intended to be spent unnecessarily be left in the pockets of you and me and the rest of us...."

Clanton, Ala., Chilton County News — A couple of months ago, we could have sworn there were at least a hundred people in easy reach who declared that they preferred hot weather. Today, it's 97 in the shade and when we tried to find one of 'em to see how they were liking their preferred hot weather, would you believe it, we can't find a single one! Ain't it hot fellers?

4-H CLUB NEWS

The Spoon and Hoe 4-H Club held its meeting on October 29. The president talked to us about having a club mascot, and chose three girls to make one. After that the boys worked out in the shop, and the first year girls learned about the sewing machine and the other girls sewed and knitted. Then we played games and had refreshments. The committee for the next meeting are refreshments, Nancy Brown and Robert Buker; entertainment, Carol Sue Brown.—Nancy L. Brown, Club Reporter.

GIRL SCOUTS

Second Grade Brownies: We had our second Brownie meeting Tuesday, Nov. 1st, at the hot lunch room. We reviewed our Brownie Pledge, Promise and Motto and learned a Brownie song. Each of us told what we had done during the week to be a good Brownie. We made rings, bracelets, and earrings out of buttons and pipe cleaners. We elected a Treasurer, Bonnie Mills, and a Reporter, Lisa Farrar. We are going to start making gifts for Christmas.—Reporter, Lisa Farrar.
